THE HEADLINE NUMBERS

CONNECTICUT AT A GLANCE.

Across 31 Connecticut families reporting through the Family Rights Registry, the patterns are consistent: long durations in court, serious financial loss, and a disproportionate number of parents going unrepresented because they ran out of money fighting.

WHY THIS REPORT EXISTS.

On January 29, 2024, I lost custody of all five of my children.

- NO TRIAL.
- NO QUESTIONING.
- NO SUBSTANTIATED ABUSE.

It took only a signature on an ex parte emergency order to erase a mother. I refused to disappear. I fought back, and built the Family Rights Registry so Connecticut families — and families in every state — would stop being invisible to the data. This report is their record.

THE COST OF CONNECTICUT FAMILY COURT

Legal fees are the largest reported expense, but they are not the only one. Lost wages, evaluation costs, and reunification services compound the financial loss — pushing most families toward pro se representation once their savings run out.

EXPENSE CATEGORY	RESPONSES	MEDIAN	MEAN	TOTAL REPORTED
Attorney Fees	18	$30,000	$191,017	$3,438,301
Lost Wages	18	$20,000	$120,233	$2,164,200
Other Court Fees	12	$5,000	$9,583	$115,000
Therapy / Evaluations	12	$5,000	$10,983	$131,800
Reunification Services	9	$0	$3,944	$35,500
GAL Fees	12	$4,000	$13,917	$167,000
Asset Loss	12	$72,500	$258,333	$3,100,000
Median Family Burden (14 families reporting 3+ categories)	—	$209,000	—	—

Median vs. mean: Median is the middle reported amount, so it better reflects the typical reporting family when a few very large expenses appear. Mean is the average across reporting families and can be pulled higher by outliers. Median Family Burden is the median of total reported expenses across families who reported costs in 3 or more expense categories with a combined total of at least $1,000 — a true median of real family totals, restricted to families who filled out enough of the financial section to characterize their case and excluding obvious data-entry artifacts.

I never imagined I would be in this position—fighting just to maintain a relationship with my own child. I am a mother who has followed the law, held custody under a valid court order, and done everything I can to provide stability, education, and care. Yet despite that, I have faced a situation where my child was not returned after visitation, and my ability to communicate and stay connected has been limited. This experience has shown me how difficult and overwhelming the system can be for parents trying to do the right thing. When processes are incomplete or one-sided, it can impact not just a parent—but a child's sense of stability, security, and emotional well-being. I am not sharing this to create conflict, but to bring awareness. Children deserve consistency. They deserve both parents when it is safe and appropriate. And parents deserve a fair and complete process. I will continue to advocate for my child—with strength, with dignity, and with the hope that the system ultimately protects what matters most: the best interests of the child.

— BRISEIDA

Iverson was wrongly taken by his father, who has schizoaffective bipolar disorder and demonstrated ongoing delusions, yet despite six months of filings in two courts with documented proof, my concerns were repeatedly ignored. Instead of hearing or reviewing the evidence, the court escalated matters by placing my son into CPS care without fully considering the facts I presented.

— ANONYMOUS PARENT

This prolonged family court battle has devastated our lives—driving me into over $100,000 of legal debt, severely damaging my mental health and private practice, and forcing me to live in constant fear that despite extensive evidence, the system may still place my son alone with a parent who has already endangered his physical and emotional safety. It has robbed my son of the carefree childhood he once had and robbed me of the ability to be fully present as his mother, as we both now live under the weight of anxiety, manipulation, and the ongoing threat that the system meant to protect him could fail him.

This was about torturing me and making me pay using our three kids. I've said going to court has been his drug of choice. With no end in sight but I refuse to go back to Family Court. I will never stop. People like all of us, and my Rock the Walls this year will be different and we will be so loud they can't ignore any of us anymore. I'M DONE!!!

— LISA

I became chronically ill and could not work for almost a decade after the case was closed my ex went on a rampage and completed the final blow of getting my son to hate us. The eyes of the court were off of him and he succeeded. On a visitation my then 15 year old sexually assaulted his half brother my son who had just turned 5 at the time. During the assault he told his little brother he hates him he hates me and is also going to assault me as well, he told my then 5 year old he would kill him if he told anyone. The police are involved and when interviewed by police my ex told them I made it all up to get them back for winning sole custody. We are waiting for my son to heal enough to complete the forensic interview as he was so young nervous and could not articulate to the interviewer. After police contacted my ex and son they cut contact with me and I have not seen or spoken to him since August 17 2023. We still have a parenting time with orders for communication but I have been so traumatized by this experience and am in therapy to build the endurance for when my now 7 year old talks to police and the DA gets involved.

06 HOW TO READ THIS REPORT

WHAT THIS IS

The Family Rights Registry is a national, parent-reported data collection run by Stand With Meg. Every figure in this Connecticut report comes from Connecticut respondents who voluntarily submitted survey entries about their experience inside family court and/or CPS.

This report is built to help families, advocates, reporters, and legislators see the patterns emerging in Connecticut — not to replace formal research, and not to name individual judges or counties as responsible parties.

WHAT IT ISN'T

This is not a representative sample. Respondents self-select. The 31 Connecticut families reporting here are not the universe of Connecticut families in court — they are the families who found the survey, trusted it enough to submit, and told us what happened to them.

Financial figures are self-reported. We flag outliers and report medians when means are distorted (see page 3, note 1). The Median Family Burden headline is the median of total reported expenses across families who reported in three or more expense categories. Quotes are minimally edited.

METHODOLOGY · FAMILY RIGHTS REGISTRY

Data in this report was collected April 2024 – May 2026 through standwithmeg.com/family-rights-survey. Submissions are timestamped. Duplicate-submission heuristics use normalized email + location, with direct survey rows preferred over legacy rows and the newest row retained within each source. Categorical responses from multi-select and short-answer fields are normalized monthly.

When a respondent's financial entry differs from the population by more than three standard deviations, the mean is suppressed and only the median is reported. Lost-wage, attorney-fee, and asset-loss entries are self-reported and not corroborated against tax records or court filings.

Geographic reporting uses the county field as submitted, with light normalization (e.g. "Butte silverbow" → "Butte-Silver Bow"). Quotes carry one of three public permission states: Anonymous, First-name only, or Full attribution with consent to public use. Court actor names appear only after 3 independent families name the same actor.
